

Learning about history is fun with this book series created to educate and enlighten kids.

Boise, Idaho
November 18th, 2020

For Immediate Release

Artist Kelly Knopp and historian Amber Beierle have partnered up once again to combine art and history in the newest edition to the celebrated children's book series, A While Ago in Idaho, Tour #2. These illustrated explorations of the state of Idaho educate and enlighten kids to learn about history, and offer a teaching opportunity that connects the whole family.

Self-published and produced entirely in Idaho, the books are filled with colorful artwork illustrating some lesser-known Idaho history. Narrated by a lovable tour guide named Belmont Beaver, this book will take kids on a new tour across Idaho, learning about the history of the gem state and making educational and sometimes strange discoveries along the way.

Kelly Knopp (illustrator) and Amber Beierle (historian) have published various projects together—they have a knack for pairing historical facts and stories with artwork—which inspired the children's book series A While Ago in Idaho and the supplementary educational resources.

Launching Friday, November 20th, 2020 at 6:00 PM MST, A While Ago in Idaho, Tour #2 is available exclusively online at www.awhileagoindaho.com and will arrive soon at local retail outlets.
